COMMENTS ON STEVENS'S ACTION

erstanding That It Would Be Closely Reviewed at Washington.

By Telegraph to The Times.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(By the As sociated Press.) The Herald this morning prints, under a Washington date, what purports to be a large portion of the report of Commissioner Blount. It sums up as follows:

"Commissioner Blount's report will show that Minister Stevens landed the troops from the Boston long before there was any valid excuse for their e on Hawaiian soil. He declined to remove them when requested formed that the authorities were willing and able to preserve order and protect American interests. The troops were stationed across the street from the government building, in which Minister Stevens knew the revolutionists about to read a proclamation and the revolutionists' committee reand the revolutionists' committee relied upon the American troops to protect them in the act of rebellion; that Stevens recognized the provisional government, according to a preconceived programme, before that government obtained possession of the department of military power at Honolulu, and that the military programment as the the military power surrendered as the Queen surrendered, only through awe of the superior forces of the United

During the five or six months of his stay in Honolulu he worked with a single purpose to ascertain the truth. He secure statements from members of the Cab-inet of the deposed Queen, from mem-bers of the Committee of Safety, which the revolution; officers of the Boston, and from other ns, including the Queen herself. of these persons were examined

> "In one of his reports to the State Department, Commissioner Blount said: 'I send you a written statement from F. Wundenburg, who says his information is derived from being personally present at all conferences of the Committee of Safety and that the utterances are based on his personal knowledge. He appears to be an intelligent man, and says he acted with the committee in good faith till the American flag was hoisted, and then he ceased communication with them. He, at this time (April 26,) is deputy clerk of the Supreme Court.' "The statement of Wundenburg is as follows: "The Committee of Safety met at the office of W. O. Smith on Fort street, at 4 o'clock, on the afternoon of Monday, January 18, 1893, for the purpose of discussing the steps necessary to be taken in the formation of the new government. Shortly after the committee met they decided they were not ready for landing the Amer-ican troops, and a committee of three, with Thurston as chairman, was at once dispatched to the American lega-tion to prevail on Minister Stevens to delay landing the Boston's men. The ommittee returned shortly and said that Stevens said to them: "Gentle-men, the troops of the Boston land at 5 o'clock, this afternoon, whether you are ready for them or not." The Committee of Safety adjourned to meet the same evening at the house of Henry Waterhouse.

"The American troops landed at 5 o'clock, as Stevens told the committee they would, and marched up Fort street to Merchant, and along Merchant street, halting in King street, between the palace and the government building. At the time the men landed the town was perfectly quiet. The business hour was about over, and the people were in the streets. Nothing unusual was to be seen, except the landing of a formidable-armed force, with Chillen was endeath with the sanding of a formidable-armed force, with Gatling guns, evidently fully prepared to remain on shore an indefinite length of time, as the men were supplied with double cartridge belts, filled with ammunition, also with haversacks and canteens, and attended by a hospital corps with stretchers and medical supplies.

"The curiosity of the people on the more particularly, followed the troops to see what it was all about. Nobody seemed to know, so when the troops found quarters the people dispersed, most of them going to a band concert at the hotel, which was very well-attended as it was a bright, moonlight night. All who were not in the secret wondering at the military demon

"The committee met at Waterhouse's residence at 7:30 o'clock. The formaresidence at 7:30 o'clock. The forma-tion of some wort of government was under discussion, and it was decided that the commander-in-chief of the forces supporting the proposed new government should be appointed. The position was offered John H. Soper, who demurred, not seeing any backing whatever to support the movement. Soper was answered by the members of the committee that the American Minister would support the movement with the troops of the Boston. "Soper still doubted, so a couple of the committee escorted him over to the legation, which, by the way, is in the adjoining premises, and the three came back after a time, reporting that Stevens had given them full assurance that ens had given them full assurance that any proclamation that the government put forward at the government build-ing or any other building in Honolulu, for that matter, would receive his im-mediate recognition and the support of the forces of the Boston.

"The assurance seemed to satisfy Soper, and he accepted the position. On Tuesday afternoon, January 17, the committee of thirteen, or Committee of Saftey, proceeded from the office of W O. Smith (now attorney-general of the provisional government) to the government building, and there, read the proclamation of the new government at 2:30 o'clock, there being practically no audience whatever.

"'As the reading proceeded, a dozen or so loungers gathered, and, near the close of the ceremony, about thirty supporters variously armed, came running into the side and back entrances to the yard and gathered about the committee. At this moment, the United States troops in temporary the United States troops, in temporary quarters less than one hundred yards away, appeared under arms, and, evidently prepared for any emergency. During all the deliberations of the committee, and, in fact, through all the proceedings connected with the move up to the final issue, the basis of action was the general understanding that Minister Stevens would keep his promise to support the movement with men from the Boston, and the state-ment is now advisedly made (with full knowledge of the lack of arms, am-munition and men, also the utter absence of organization at all adequate to the undertaking) that without the previous assurance of support from the American Minister, and the actual pres-ence of United States troops, no move-ment would have been attempted, and, if attempted, would have been a miser-able failure, resulting in the capture and death of the participants, in a very short time. Having been present at several meetings referred to in the statement, I hereby certify the same to be correct in every particular."

(Signed.) 'F. WUNDENBURG.' (Signed.) F. WUNDENBURG.

"Commissioner Blount sends to the State Department a long interview had by him with S. A. Damon, who was president of the advisory council of the provisional government. Damon's interview is reported stenographically and is signed by him as being correct He was one of the men who went up to the government house on Monday afternoon, January 17, to read the proclamation declaring the Queen deposed and the new government in control. Damon corroborated the statement made by Wundenburg.

"In response to Blount's questions. Damon said that he and another member of the revolutionary committee went to the station-house to hold a conference with the Queen's representa-Blount endeavored to draw from Damon an admission that the argument used to induce the Queen's ministers to surrender was that the United States troops were across the and in full sympathy with the revolu tion. Damon unwillingly admitted this was true, saying: 'While I was in the station-house a man named Bowler said to me: 'We're all prepared to resist, but I will never fight against the American flag."

Being again pressed for information as to whether the smypathy of the United States Minister talked about, Damon 'I cannot remember any definite thing, but from Bowler's report they must have thought the United States troops were here for some purpose. While we were in the govern-ment building during the reading of the proclamation, and while we were all extremely nervous as to our personal extremely nervous as to our personal safety, I asked one of the men with me there: "Will not the American troops support us?" Finally I asked one of the men to go over and ask Lieut. Swinburne if he was not going to send someone over to protect us. The man returned and said: "Capt. Wilten's orders are to remain passive."

Wiltse's orders are to remain nessive. "I was perfectly non-plussed at not receiving their support. I could not imagine why we were there without being supported by the American troops. We were there, fifteen or twenty minutes without their supporting us in any way.' Being asked what ing us in any way. Being asked what was accomplished by the first visit to the station-house, Damon at length replied: 'The Queen's ministers virtually gave it up. They said that if they had only the provisional government to contend with and the forces of the provisional government they would not surrender. They felt that they could meet the emergency so far they could meet the emergency so far as the provisional government was con-to yield, and the Queen and I went along with them to the palace.

"'We all met in the blue-room, there were present the Queen, the two young princes, four ministers, Judge Widemann, Paul Neumann, J. O. Carter, E. C. McFarland and myself. We went over between 4 and 5 o'clock, and reversely until 6. We asked for a surwe asked for a sur-render, and the ministers advised it. At first, Judge Widemann opposed the idea, but yielded when Neumann did. It was the Queen's idea that she could surrender pending settlement at Wash-ington.

"'It was on that condition she gave up. I told her she could surrender or abdicate under protest.' "Was the Queen advised by the min-isters to surrender because the sym-pathy of the United States was with

Up to Sunday, at least eighty lives are known to have been lost during the gale which swept over the British coast for forty-eight hours past, and, in addition, the crews of several boats are still missing. Only four of the twelve members of the crew of the Cintra, which was wrecked, escaped.

"Broken promise to make me Corporation Gounsel, and other things. But it will come out at the trial. I am very much displeased at the entering of a plea of insanity. The people in the immediate vicinity ran to the house and found the poor woman lying on the floor in the diningroom, suffering from a violent attack of hysterics. All the draperies in the room, the mantels, chairs, curtains, portieries, table linen, and other clothmaterials, had been slashed to shreds and thrown on the floor in a heap. That was only the beginning of the outrage. In the kitchen the scene at first glance represented chaos. In the middle of the floor the family larder had been emptied, the Sunday meats, groceries, etc., in a heap. "In these half-day schools the teachers and children are always hurried, therefore, for this reason and because of the one long session they both become more tired and do less thorough work. There seems to be no way to get entirely rid of these half-day schools in our rapidly and continuously growing city. "Be the cause what it may, there are children who suffer and whose parents are not able to care for them properly. Such children should be examined and treated for humane reasons, just as children are vaccinated at public expense."

'At 6:30 in the evening of that day I was called to the government building. I met there Judge Dole, Charles Carter, S. M. Damon and twenty or thirty other leading men. There was a great deal of excitement. They told me that Minister Stevens had recognized the rew government. I was asked to go with the committee to the palace, to inform Her Majesty she was deposed. Damon informed Her Majesty of the establishment of the provisional government, and of her being deposed, and that she might prepare a protest, if she I met there Judge Dole, Charles Carte she might prepare a protest, if she wished to do so. An awkward pause followed, which I broke by addressing Her Majesty, expressing my sympa-thy, and advised her that any demon-stration on her part, or her forces, would precipitate a conflict with the forces of the United States; that it was desirable that such a conflic should be avoided. I did because i Stevens said if the revolutionist obtained possession of the government buildings he would recognize them as the government. MIDWINTER FAIR

The Part Being Taken by the Southern Countles.

Matters in Midwinter Fair circles are livening up as the time for the opening of the California Exposition draws nearer and the conditions for a successful display seem particularly favorable. The southern part of the State has all along been among the foremost of the projectors of the idea and it certainly promises to do its share towards making a creditable epresentation.
The San Francisco Chronicle has this

The San Francisco Chronicle has this to say regarding the proposed building decided upon by the local committee: "One of the first sections of the State to arrive at a decision to erect a building was that including five of the seven southern counties of the State. These counties determined to place a splendid building at the fair and make it there what the California building was at Chicago. The design has been was at Chicago. The design has been adopted and early next week actual construction will commence. Its aradopted and early next week actual construction will commence. Its architectural features will win for instant attention. It will be 140 feel long and 125 feet wide. It will be it full view of the grand court, and those who are interested in its welfare in-tend to make it a primary point of in-terest. The southern citrus fair will be held within its walls and every product of the southern counties will be represented in a manner as artistic as good taste and judgment can sug-be represented in a manner as artistic as good taste and judgment can suggest."

In future deliniation of the prospective scope and progress of the fair. In the same article it is said:

"The Midwinter Exposition is now outlined practically as it will be on opening day. When the great enterprise was projected few even among those who had most to do with its progress ever expected that it would reach the magnitude it assumes today. Projects and plans are all but over. There may be new concessions granted and new buildings proposed, but they will be few. The fair can be seen now without the haze of the indefinite. The Executive Committee knows just what the great enterprise will be and as it stands today, with every force at work for its realization, it is not only one of the greatest expositions in the history of the continent, but of the world.

"As in all other great fairs, there were advanced not a few projects which will not be carried out. Of those no consideration is now taken, and in estimating the scope of the exposition only those elements which are absolutely assured and upon which time and money have already been spent are taken into account.

when the dedication ceremonies take place on New Year's day there will be seventy-five separate buildings on the fair grounds. Among them there will not be one which did not costs thousands of dollars. All of them will be architecturally beautiful, and each will be devoted to a separate purpose. In placing the number at seventy-five the fifty or more klosks are not counted. Neither are the tents and huts in many of the villages. Only those structures which may be justly designated main structures are taken into account.

"From that number one may judge of what the fair will be. They may seen in it the signs of coming success and of the opening of the new era which simultaneously with the beginning of the fair is to be inaugurated in the Golden State."

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15.—(To the Editor of The Times.) The other evening when the hero in a new play(?) that has recently been put upon the stage, advanced to the footlights and exclaimed in a tragic voice, "Shall we, who fought for the flag, shall we, who fought for the flag, shall we, who periled our lives to free the black slaves, be made white slaves?" it sounded quite sublime, and was loudly applauded; but when we consider that the speaker was in the rebel army and has always been a rebel, it assumes the complexion of the ridiculous. For, although the Republicans have plucked up spirit and gained some ground, they are not yet strong enough to carry Mrs. Lease. The outlook, therefore, is most encouraging. EVANGELIST SMITH

Closing Services at Simpson Tabernacle.

An Able Sermon by the Eloquent Preacher.

Special Musical Programme for the Occasion.

The Doctrines Which Christ Never Men tioned" Discussed by Rev. Mr. Thomson of Unity Church-Other Services.

The floor and galleries of Simpson Methodist Episcopal Tabernacle were densely packed last evening, at the closing services held by Evangelist F. L. Smith. There were, besides Mr. Smith, the following pastors occupying the platform, their congregations being represented in the tabernacle: Rev. Dr. Chichester, Immanuel Pres-byterian Church; Rev. M. H. Stine, First English Lutheran Church: Rev. Dr. Reed, First Baptist Church; Rev. Dr. Hutchins, First Congregational Church; Rev. D. R. Colmery, Third Presbyterian Church; Rev. H. W. Crabbe, Second United Presbyterian Church. The fine choir of Simpson Church was augmented by the Y.M.C.A. quartette, who sang several selections beautifully. During the offertory Miss Elizabeth H. Kimball sang a solo with great tenderness, with Miss Helen Widney, as planist.

Evangelist Smith preached a powerful sermon, from these three texts:
"What think ye of Christ?" Matthew xxii,42.

"What shall I do then, with Jesus, which is called Christ?" Matthew

"How shall we escape if we neglect "How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?" Hebrews xi,3.

The force of Mr. Smith's manner lies largely in the quiet and direct way in which he brings his questions home to each individual. There is nothing sensational in the method in which he conducts a revival; but his every word has weight, and is pointed with a truth that is irresistable. His anecdotes are unfailing, and many of those reare unfailing, and many of those related last night were so touching as to affect his hearers to tears. It is the simple, always, which he uses with great effect. He pointed out many stumbling-blocks in the way of Christian life, and he urged that none should go forth from the house of worship in which they were assembled without assuring themselves of Christ's salvation. He pictured the simple faith of a child, which is all that is required to receive that salvation. A man does not need to understand theology, to be learned in the Bible; he needs only to learn the simplicity of Jesus, and to accept Him in that simplicity. Jesus Christ is the center of the world's gaze, of the world's hope, and He is ready and willing to save every one who can say to Him, as simple as the child would say. 'I come to You, take me; I am Thine.' In that moment when life is given up to Him, one feels and knows that he is saved.

An earnest prayer was offered by Dr. Chichester, after which Mr. Smith took up the subject of the work of the Young Men's Christian Association, emphasizing strongly the support it should receive. He thinks Los Angeles does not realize the importance of its work. Last year there were over two hundred young men in the association's educational classes alone, with almost weekly concerts, lectures and amusements to draw them in and hold their interest. The saloons understand well are unfailing, and many of those re-lated last night were so touching as to ments to draw them in and hold their interest. The saloons understand well how to put forward attractions to ennow to put forward attractions to en-tice young men. Some man in this city ought to donate on the spot $75 to procure an illuminated sign to place in front of the association rooms, that all may know where to find it, and be attracted by it. Oakland raises, outside attracted by it. Oakland raises, outside of membership fees, $4000 by subscriptions, for her Y.M.C.A. Los Angeles subscribes only about $1200 for an association larger than Oakland's.

Cards soliciting subscriptions for this univose were then distributed by the ushers, and while this was being done the Y.M.C.A. quartette sung "God Bless My Boy Tonight" with touching effect. Prayers for the young men of Los TEMPLE-STREET CHRISTIAN. Rev. A. C. Smither preached upon 'Soul Winning," discussing it in the light of Jesus' work in gaining his first five apostles as related in John 1, 19-51. Soul-winning is the great work of the church. To learn the art we must sit at the feet of the Great Teacher. In the study of His experience as related in this scripture it will be observed that the Savior invited His disciples to follow Him. He did not ask them to accept any manifesto of His or subscribe to any creed He might dictate to them. He wanted them to learn of Him. love and obey Him. In His personality is found the power of Christ today and less of man-made organizations. We observe furthermore that He reaches and influences all classes—the loving John, the impetuous Peter, the reticent Andrew and the zealous Philip. He calls around Him every class, and His offers to men are as wide as the needs of the race. Every class may find sympathy and love in Him if only they will forsake their sins.

He asked these disciples to "come and see" what He was, what He taught and what offers he made to the each. light of Jesus' work in gaining his first five apostles as related in John 1, was brought through friendly intervention. Along these lines today, the world'e evangelization is carried on. It will be further observed that His apostles were quickly convinced of His superhuman nature. John the Baptist declares Him to be the Lamb of God and the Son of God. Another one believes Him to be the Messiah of the Jews. Still another thinks Him to be the long-expected prophet, while still a third declared Him to be the Son of God and King of Israel. Jesus claimed to be the Son of Man, the representative of the race. No man can candidly study the word of God and not conclude that Jesus is widely separated from the rest of mortals. His character must challenge the admiration of all generations and convince men that Christ is supreme among terrestrial and celestial intelligences.

WELSH CHURCH CONCERT.

Tomorrow evening a concert for the benefit of the Welsh Church building penent of the Welsh Church building fund will be held in the parlors of the First Presbyterian Church. Among other attractions, the Welsh singers will render musical selections in their native language.

UNITY CHURCH,

At the Church of the Unity yesterday, the pastor, Rev. J. S. Thomson, preached a sermon on "The Doctrines Which Christ Never Mentioned," from the text: "In vain do they worship Me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men. For, laying aside, the commandment of God, ye hold the tradition of men. For, laying aside, the commandment of God, ye hold the tradition of men. — making the word of God of none effect through your traditions," Mark vii, 8-13.

The churches of Christ teach many good doctrines, which Christ never mentioned, as the spiritual authority of the gospels. A guide-book for the United States that would leave out New York, Chicago, or Los Angeles, and the Hudson and Mississippi, would be regarded as defective and unreliable. Christ came to teach the ways of true life in the religious world; and, if He left out anything that is essential to man's salvation, His guide-book is insufficient, and we would expect that He would make the essentials to plain to be misunderstood; and we must assume that His biographers knew what Ho considered to be important doctrines: He never mentions these doctrines: He never mentions these doctrines: He fall of man, total depravity, immaculate conception, trinity, a zacrifice for atonement and forgiveness. In all these doctrines there is some truth, except in total depravity, and the conservative view of the atonement. Christ never called this a bad world, nor the body a clog, as some people teach. Christ is no authority for those who ignore the good in other religions of the world; for He acknowledged the faith of the Syrophoenician woman, the centurion, the good Samsritan, and rebuked the disciples who wanted to call fire from heaven upon the villagers, Noah, Abraham, Joseph, Moses, Elijah, were surely saved, but they were not saved by Christ. He never said they were. If men want to be saved to the highest life and religion and civilization. The plain teachings of Christ in the gospels are the essentials of Christianity. He who studies these doctrines and weaves the EAST LOS ANGELES BAPTIST. The East Los Angeles Baptist Church was well filled yesterday morning, by a congregation eager to hear the evangelist. George Robert Cairns. He is a fine-looking man, of stout frame, florid complexion, and with a head much like Beecher's. Scotch positivism is his great characteristic: and yet he is, withal, tender and kind. His manner is pleasing, and his general appearance attracts an intelligent audience.

He preached his first sermon from the text: "They sought means to bring him." It was a portrayal of the men who brought the paralytic to Christ. He called the men Mr. Determination, Mr. Faith, Mr. Hope and Mr. Love. Work was the keynote of the whole sermon, and it was preached in so fervid and enthusiastic a manner that the speaker carried the people with him.

It was announced that Mr. Cairns will The East Los Angeles Baptist Church

My Boy Tonight" with touching effect.

Prayers for the young men of Los Angeles were offered by Rev. Mr. Colmery, with brief prayer by Mr. Smith for the sons of mothers who are away from here.

W. D. Ball, in behalf of the Y. M. C. A., the members of which were present, spoke of the great service done by Mr. Smith for the young men of the city, and publicly thanked him for his efforts. He also thanked the pastors of the various churches who have co-operated and without whose influence the work would have been of little avail. Through their combined efforts, he said, may have turned to Christ.

The general testimony is that Evangelist Smith's labors here have been greatly blessed, and that this series of meetings strictly for men have been the most successful ever held here. At the closing meeting at Y. M. C. A. Hall yesterday afternoon the house was crowded in every available part. This morning Mr. Smith leaves for Riverside, where a revival series will be held, after which he will proced North.

TEMPLE-STREET CHRISTIAN.

Rev. A. C. Smither presented.

Yesterday morning a large congregation, composed chiefly of those who have "outgrown" the orthodox and liberal churches, assembled to listen to Rev. R. W. Webster, who, for several years, has been pastor of the Congregational Church at Long Beach. The invitation extended was for all who are "unchurched, or who are uncongenially churched," to lend their aid in establishing a religious association in Los Angeles, to be known as the Church of Human Brotherhood. There was good singing by a volunteer choir, under charge of Mr. and Mrs. Modini-Wood Future services are to be held in the Los Angeles Theater.

He asked these disciples to "come and see" what Je was, what He taught and what offers He made to the world. This challenge He throws down to the nations of the earth today. No greater evidence of His divine nature and work could possibly be given than the fabric of Christian civilization erected by Him and by His following in various ways. His first two disciples were gained by a sermon from John the Baptist. Preaching is a divinely-adapted means to a great end, and is today potent factor in the advancement of Christian civilization. Another one was gained by the influence of family influence is another important method of extending the kingdom of Christ. Philip was called directly. Hard Training for the Athletic Sports.

Thanksgiving Field Day Promises to Be a Success.

Some of the Noted Athletes Who Will Take Part.

Midwinter Fair Shooting Festival-A Review of the Cycling Season of 1893-Ives and Schaefer-Sporting Notes.

Interest in the coming field day of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, to be held at Athletic Park, Thanksgiving day, is almost at fever heat among the wheelmen and other athletes of this part of the country. Yes-terday Athletic Park presented a lively appearance, as the cyclists, sprinters and lacrosse players were working out. All of the boys are training faithfully. and good sport will undoubtedly result from their efforts. The bicycle boys did lots of good work yesterday, and some lots of good work yesterday, and some of them may prove surprises on Thanksgiving day. McCrea, the crack Riversider, is in fine condition, and, judging from some of the quarters and miles he reeled off yesterday, it will not surprise any if he comes to the Coast record, or a little better, before the races come off. McAleer is doing good work, and Kitchin is improving daily. All of the old-timers will be seen on the track again this time, including Hall, Fox, Cowan, Smith of Riverside and several others. Many claim that Smith will carry off the mile open. He and several others. Many claim that Smith will carry off the mile open. He certainly will be near the front, at least. It is hoped that the Northern boys will come down, as there is no doubt that several Southern men are record-beaters. Considerable interest is manifested in the novice race, Fay Stephenson being the favorite, but Cosby will make him ride, and the time will be near 2:35. Voorhees, another competitor in this event, yesterday showed himself to be a good man, who should not be overlooked. From present indications, the bicycle events will be more hylly contested than those of the L. A. W. meet, held last month, and those who witnessed them say some very good races.

will be more hotty contested than those of the L. A. W. meet, held last month, and those who witnessed them saw some very good races.

In the running events, the field will be very interesting, and some good sport is anticipated. The probable candidates for these events are Howard Ryan, Hoyt, Stewart, Harlin, and several others, who have not been heard from yet. Jackson and Carillo of Santa Monica, are not certain yet.

It is reported that Frank Foster, the crack runner and hurdler, of San Francisco, who rara a dead heat on May 30 with Charley Howard, in the 100-yard dash, but was beaten in the final by a very small margin, will be down again on Thanksgiving. In this event, the 100 yards open will be the race of the day. It is also probable that Hancock of San Francisco will be down and compete in the 100-yard run and running high jump. The other events will bring out Dole and Derby of Riverside, Hopperstead, and many others, who will be mentioned later.

The lacrosse game between Riverside and Los Angeles will be a very interesting part of the day's sport. This will dommence at 1:30 p.m. sharp.

The prizes offered by the club, which consist of diamond pins, watches, cups, music boxes and medals, are finer than any put up for competition before, and the boys will give some fine sport in working for them.

MIDWINTER FAIR SHOOTING FES-TIVAL. The San Francisco Schuetzen Verein

The San Francisco Schuetzen Verein has completed its preliminary arrangements for the California Midwinter Fair International Shooting Festival, says the Chronicle. It will last two months, commencing the first Sunday in February, and will close the last Sunday in March. The shooting contests will be all held at Shell Mound twice a week, every Wednesday, from 12 (noon) until 5 o'clock, and every Sunday, from 10 o'clock in the morning until 4 in the afternoon. The contests will be open to all marksmen, no matter from where they may come. These will be a large number of prizes to be contested for, and the competition should be very keen.

In addition to cash prizes a King medal, valued at $75, will be awarded to the man making the highes average at all targets, best centers not counting. The winner of this medal will be declared the king of the Midwinter shooting festival. The medal will be of solid gold, with a double bar and chains, from which a richly-chased medal will hang. The center will represent the Golden Gate, a fine diamond taking the place of old Sol. CYCLING SEASON OF '93.

successful racing, the riders almost in a body journeyed to all the big cycling centers of the West and East. The circuit embraced points 2000 miles apart, and included some eighteen cities beween Waltham and Minneapolis. It was by far the most notable race-circuit ever planned and carried out. A close estimate would place the number of spectators who attended the meets at nearly one hundred and fifty thousand, or an average of nearly four thousand at each meet, an attendance remarkable in the fact that cycle-racing as a national sport is in its infancy.

remarkable in the fact that cycle-racing as a national sport is in its infancy.

From a racing point of view, the meets without exception were successes. Exceedingly large fields of men, of exceptional speed, battled for supremacy on every occasion, and fast time in both handicap and scratch events was the natural consequence, world's competitive records being established at almost every meet.

While it was intended the circuit should be an international one, it partook of that nature in name only, owing to the apparent apathy of the foreigners, who, although the races were open to all comers, did not participate as it was supposed they would. Meintjes of South Africa, and Hyslop of Canada, being the only foreigners of note who appeared and contested. Yet the title, "Champion of the World," which was conferred on the winners of the three international contests at the Chicago meet is not an exercite thought. winners of the three international contests at the Chicago meet is not an empty honor, since, although the foreign racing men were not contestants, the two winners, Zimmerman at one and six miles, and Meintjes at sixty miles, had previously established the right of their claim to be so designated, and it is extremely doubtful whether the presence of all the crack racing men of other countries would have made any difference in the result.

racing men of other countries would have made any difference in the result.

Of course the natural result of so much racing in every section of the country has proved a golden opportunity for the racing crack to become more proficient in his art, and as a consequence the American riders today stand at the head of the cycling world in speed. The wheelmen of no other country have been able to best them when it came to a contest in which a remarkable degree of speed was necessary in the finish of a race, the way they are run at present. At speed work of American riders have shown themselves to be far in advance of all others, and although all long-distance records are held by foreigners, it is possibly only because that branch of the sport has never been cultivated to any extent in this country. With the growing interest, however, it is possible before many seasons pass America will lay claim to the greatest long-distance riders in the world.

Certain it is that in Zimmerman, Sanger, Tyler, Johnson, Windle, Bliss, Taylor, Githens and Dirnberger America has a team the equal of whom no one other country has ever possessed. idols of the cycling world and the entire fraternity has done them homage.

IVES AND SCHAEFER.

Says the San Francisco Post: "All money for the big balk-line bifliard game between Frank Ives and Jake Schaefer, which is to begin next Tuesday night in Chicago, has been posted, and the men are carefully preparing for the contest, which is attracting attention all over the country. Only once before in the history of bifliards has more money than now been wagered. Schaefer and Ives are to play for $5000.

"In 1858. at Detroit, Phelan and Sereeiter played a match game at fourball billiards on a 6x12 table, with six pockets, for $7500 a side: Twice only since has there been as much as $2500 on a game, and that was in the cushion-carom game between Sexton and Schaefer and the Vignaux-Schaefer contest.

"Schaefer is said to be playing better billiards than he ever did before. He has added strength to his brilliancy, and the hard course of work he has subjected his nerves to, has braced them to their utmost. Ives, too, is playing in championship form. The Napoleon has laid out a rather heroic programme for the next two months, and, if his plans do not go awry, he will be near the top of the ladder in all three of the matches he has made. He wants to beat Shaefer first, win the triangular tournament in New York, and then scoop in first money in the tournament here. He may not carry all these points, but if he does, it is safe to predict that he will leave America and take up his residence abroad. There will be no more glory for him here, and he will have to look to the continent for new conquests."

THE QUADRUPLET. An interesting feature of the modern ruplet, a bicycle as long and lean as a racehorse, and so arranged that four swift wheelmen may ride it. A. A. Zimmerman and John S. Johnson have both been paced in their assaults on the records by the quadruplet, and the records have changed so rapidly of late that it requires all the ingenuity of the proverbial Philadelphia lawyer to keep track of them.

The quadruplet is a development of the old tandem idea. Several years ago a bicycle built for two was something of a novelty. Then came the 'riplet, with accommodations for three riders, and this year the quadruplet made its appearance. There are only two in existence, and trials have demonstrated that four swift riders can send one of them around a mile track in about two minutes. They lose time on the turn, but set a terrific pace coming down the straight Spice. SPORTING NOTES.

The spectacle of a millionaire's racing stable under attachment by a trainer, was the theme for many a kindly joke at Baldwin's expense among his racing friends. Williams is racing a string of his own now, but so far he has had roor success, the money being too far away from the class of horses which he has sent to the post.

HAIR, DRESS AND WAISTCOATS.

(From Our Regular New York Fashion Correspondent.) It is quite the thing to wear the hair very high on the top of the head with a little lock standing up in a perky curl, but if you havn't a lock to spare, or if it won't perk, you can tuck in a tall hat pin, or a crisp knot of ribbon with pointed ends and get It is much the fashlop among the school girls who let their hair hang, to braid it to the last tiny end, and to fasten a heavy bow at the very last hair. There seems no good reason for this, and it is better for the hair to keep it clipped to a fairly thick ending to the braid. Girls for the hair to keep it clipped to a fairly thick ending to the braid. Girls with very heavy hair often have insufficient eyelashes. This can be remedied by clipping the lashes whenever the hair is clipped.

For a miss of 14 or 15 years, the dress of today's picture is a very pretty one. Its material is dark green cloth trimmed with black, woolen soutaches, and black velvet for the pointed yoke of the bodice. The bell-shaped skirt is lined with farmer satin and garnished with two rows of soutaches near the bottom, and one at the hips. The yoke is edged with double bretelles, each lined with silk, and edged with soutache. The sleeves have a bell-shaped trimming, consisting of three ruffles each, trimmed with soutache. Around the waist comes a soutache belt, and the standing collar is made of black velvet.

Walstcoats are made in the most elaborate materials, moire, white silk being much in favor. Those made of gold-traced damask stuffs are worn with black serge street gowns, the walstcoat being the only touch of ornament. Red silk in the heavier repped qualities is also worn, and brass buttons are used with them. An ugly notion is the striped vesting, black and red, and yellow and black, so suggestive of use for swell flunkies.

The Burglar Came.

(New York Sun.) It was an agent for a big manufacturing concern who was talking. "I once got out a poster," he said, "which started in: 'Keep your eye on this; a burglar is coming. This I distributed broadcast in the towns in the northern part of the State. Among other places it was hung conspicuously in a grocery and dry goods store in one of the towns in that section. One morning the proprietor, when he opened up shop, found that my notice had been amended to read. 'Keep your eye on this; the burglar has come. The correction was made in pencil-mark. And sure enough, the burglar had come. And he had carried off about $600 in money and goods." The Burglar Came.

it Will Be Opened by M. German, Who Intends nents of the Kind on the Coast.

With this issue of The Times, M. German is introduced to the residents of this city and county, as one of Los Angeles' substantial business men of the future. Mr. German comes to locate here permanently from San Diego, where for the past eight years he has conducted one of the largest and most attractive jewelry stores in Southern California. In fact, it has been conceded that his stock was the largest of any one business house in its line outside of San Francisco, while the name of M. German has become farfamed for the strictly honorable methods adapted in the conduct of his business. Being an active, progressive business man, with a thought of the future, Mr. German foresaw that his scope for business was limited in San Diego, and so, a few months ago, he disposed of his stock, apparently with the intention of retiring from active business life. But this conclusion was only hypothetical, for, after a trip through the Eastern States, Mr. German returned to his old home, only to take leave of his many friends before coming to make this city h dence and sphere of business labor.

The Times welcomes Mr. German and his estimable wife, as it does all other good people who come to add to Los Angeles' already extensive list of substantial usiness men, and bespeaks for him a fair share of the public's patronage in his particular line of trade. In opening business here, Mr. German will endeavor to uphold the reputation he has heretofore enjoyed, of having one of the finest rub.

Improvement in the East as Well as at Home.

The Recent Cold Snap Not as Disas trous as Raported.

Only Three Insignificant Failures During Week in the Southern California District-A Riverside Con-

The past week has been satisfactory in financial and trade circles. Fortified by encouraging reports from the East, money has become easier and wholesels precious feel less insecure. wholesale merchants feel less insecure. The reports sent abroad regarding the repent storm were greatly exaggregated and may work more damage to Southern California's reputation than the entire loss will amount to in her own territory. As a matter of fact, the "beautiful snow" was exceedingly scarce except in possibly a few altitudinous places. The wind which followed was more injurious than either the snow or slight frost of which so much was said. Fortunately only the most exposed places were in the storm's path, and the aggregate the repent storm were greatly exstorm's path, and the aggregate is comparatively insignificant. Still the damaging reports have been sent out and it will take some little time before the evil effects of this premature scare can be fully counteracted.

Again Los Angeles has the prestige of being the only city among the larger commercial centers that shows an increase in bank clearances. Every other place on the list, from New York to Spokane, shows a decrease any-where from 11.1 to 77.8 per cent, while to Spokane, shows a decrease anywhere from 11.1 to 77.8 per cent, while the Angel City marches proudly in the lead/ with a 23.7 per cent increase. This showing is not only exceedingly flattering to ourselves, but its almost weekly repetition is bound to attract attention in the money centers East sooner or later.

During the past week but three minor failures were reported for the Southern California district. One of of these was in this city, the Peerless Steam Laundry Company having made an assignment in trust for all creditors. There was one default in San Bernardino, a saloon having gone to the wall, and the third on the list was that of a contractor in Riverside. The last named, although under the list of the week's failures, is, properly speaking, a relic. According to the Riverside daily papers, A. M. Lyon, a contractor owing numerous small bills about town, had disposed of his property and had purchased a ticket for the East. When he arrived at Los Angeles he was arrested at the instance of McBean & Co., a Riverside clothing firm, who claimed that Lyon was about to leave the State with intent to defraud his creditors. Lyon was about to leave the State with intent to compromised the matter before the case begame generally known. The Riverside Press in its report of the suit, naively says:

THE TURN OF THE TIDE.

THE TURN OF THE TIDE.

Dun's review for the week ending November 11, 1893, in speaking of the situation in the East, says:

"The turn of the tide has come.
Since the elections there has been a distinct improvement in business, and particularly in manufacturing. There' is some increase in actual transactions, and much more in the tone of business. Men of all parties feel that there is ground for greater confidence, the ness. Men of all parties feel that there is ground for greater confidence, the silver question being put definitely out of the way, and the chance of disturbing action in other respects being lessened, while the right of the people to rule their rulers has been vindicated. While it is yet too early to look for great changes, there is already a distinct improvement in the demand for manufactured products since the action on the silver bill, some increase in the output of pig-iron and in the sales of wool, in the building trades in several cities, and the failures for the eral cities, and the failures for the week latest reported show lower liabilities. In brief, the recovery which began when the silver repeal bill passed continues with increased strength," Another very important point touched upon by Dun's Review, is the follow-ing.

Another very important point touched upon by Dun's Review, is the following.

"The first week of November has passed, and thousands of business men breathe more freely because the apprehended failures in dry goods have been much less numerous and less important than was feared. No doubt it was true that many concerns have been carried over by extension, but even a moderate revival of trade will enable most of them to weather the storm. A gradusl improvement is seen in the market for cotton goods, with slightly better prices in print cloths and some other grades. The sales of wool for the week have been 3,864,200 pounds, at the three principal markets, against 3,215,000 last year. While the production of men's woolens from June 1 to November 1 was only 10,173,716 yards, against 17,085,019 for the same period last year, there is good reason to expect a larger demand hereafter. Thus orders for spring woolens have clearly increased, and with mills which have some orders booked already, but not enough, the change is already important."

THE FAILURES. THE FAILURES.

THE FAILURES.
Failures for the past week number 361 in the United States, and 37 in Canada; total, 398; against 386 for the previous week, and 236 for the corresponding week of last year, of which 210 were in the United States, and 26 in Canada. In number the failures show no failing off, but in importance there is a marked difference. No bank failures have occurred, and of commercial failures only four are represented as having from $100,000 to $200,000 invested. By far the greater number are small and unimportant.

The Pacific Associated Press was incorporated under the laws of this State, and included the Bee and Record-Union of Sacramento, Examiner, Call, Chronsicle, Bulletin and Post of San Francisco, the Union of San Caramento, Examiner, Call, Chronsicle, Bulletin and Post of San Francisco, the Mercury of San Jose, the Tribune of Oakland, the Ledger and News of Tacoma, and the Tribune of Sait Lake, all taking the full telegraphic reports.*

The papers requested to meet with the Pacific Associated Press included all the daily papers of the Coast taking a telegraphic service report of matters extant, whether from the Associated Press or United Press, The papers so represented by the managers at the meeting were the Reno (Nev.) There was offered for the considera-tion of those present a form of a con-tract' between the Pacific Associated Press and individual newspapers, which was generally approved.

The following resolution was offered, and, on foll-call, was unanimously adopted:

An adjournment was had with the understanding that the services of the report should be commenced as soon as the necessary arrangements had been completed for the gathering of the news and the transmission thereof by the telegraph company.

The matter of transforming the Euclid-avenue street-car line into an electric line is meeting with good success. William Friend will canvass the city at once and see if a subsidy can-not be raised that will guarantée the not be raised that will guarantee the building of the line. Property owners will be asked to subscribe 50 cents per front foot for property facing the avenue. The plan is to put in an electric plant at the head of Euclid avenue, and this is to furnish power for the street-cars and light for the city. The property owners generally favor the plan, and it is believed will subscribe liberally to its support. It is suggested that it would be a great big feather in Ontario's cap if her own citizens would build the road instead of sending away for outside capital. By this plan the money and all other interests about the line would be cen acres tying north and east of Chino Creek, subdivided into ten-arre tracts, which have a gradual decline toward the South and Southwest, giving ample natural drainage for successful cultivation.

In 1891 the Beet Sugar Company was organized and the Refinery built and put in operation at Chino, in a central portion in reference to the property. The result obtained from the operation of the Factory for the few years past shows a remarkable degree of adaptability of the soil to the successful cultivation of the Sugar Heet, both in amount of production and in percentage of saccharine matter, and also in the efficient capacity of the manufacturing plant. The factory handled during the present season of 1883, 1900 tons of beets per day, and have from 800 to 900 tons per day coming in continuously for the entire campaign, covering a period of nearly four months. It is proposed now to increase the capacity of the Factory by the erection of an additional building and machinery to suit the raquirements of increasing production. The returns for the present campaign have been a total yield of over 15,000,000 pounds of sugar, which have been shipped out as crude sugar to be refined elsewhere.

Ended direct and specific contract between Mr. Gird and the Chino Valley Beet Sugar Company, a corporation which instituted and operates the beet Sugar industry, they agreed to purchase from Mr. Gird or his successors all the best sgrown on the ranch for years to come, and at the present date, about November 1st, 1803, before the commencement of the next season. After price is established that the factory will pay for the beets at maturity next season. This insures the planter in the market for his crop, and with the price that is fixed, before he takes any risk in the matter or makes the first move towards turning over the ground. Citrus Fruits and Deciduous Trees.

Orange groves planted on portions of the ranch are coming forward, and olives, figs, apricots, prunes, pomegranates and berries, in fact California fruits of all kinds, seem inedigenous to the soil. It is also demonstrated that corn, barley, wheat, and in fact all the creals and vegetables flourish in this soil and attain a high degree of perfection.

The townsite of Chino, located at a convenient point with reference to all portions of the ranch, is a flourishing California town, with telegraph, telephone and express offices, schools and churches. Means of communication and transportation are ample. The Southern Pacific Railroad runs its main line direct into Chino, and is four miles distant from Pomona and Ontario, on the main overland line, and in addition is the proposed extension which is now assured from Pomona, through Chino to South Riverside and Elsinore.

The following are a few of the advantageous features of the Chino Valley. First, the cultivation of the Sugar Beet, which insures a profit: fifteen tons is an average crop, but twenty tons is not unusual, which is received at the factory at a fixed price of $4.50 per ton, which during this present season of 1886 has averaged the grower from $6 to $60 per acre net, and clean above all expense of working the ground, planting and harvesting the crop and delivering at the factory.

We invite land-seekers generally who are desiring to secure profitable investment. Four passenger trains in and out of Chino every day. We invite correspondence.

SANTA BARBARA COUNTY. The Floral Festival for 1894-floore Denies the Charges.

There will be a floral festival in 1891.

The meeting of the Floral Festival Committee yesterday afternoon de-cided that. The association met in its rooms in the Clock building, and was called to order by C. F. Eaton of Montecito. The board of trustees for the ensuing year was elected to consist of Messrs. C. F. Eaton, W. A. Hawley, J. J. Perkins, F. H Wheelan, Joseph Sexton, R K. Stevens, L. G. Dreyfus, Dr. Ira Stambach and Mrs. Anna West. The trustees will meet Tuesday next for the election of officers. A vote was taken as to the advisability of holding states a control way to the sec taken as to the advisability of notding a floral festival next spring, and the committee voted unanimously, so to do. Although our floral festival is but three years old, it has a world-wide renown; the beauty of the pageant of flowers, the exquisite groupings and perfect harmony of colors and figures in the unique floral dance, the mammoth rose show, and the four days of flowers and show, and the four days of flowers and fun have impressed every visitor to the different festivals with the wonderful profusion of flowers, and the taste and artistic qualities of the originators and managers. The one held in 1894 will eclipse all predecessors. Even now designs are being made for peculiar and unique vehicles, and society is eagerly looking forward to it as the event of the year.

It is hoped that the spectacle will attract many San Francisco people and visitors to the Midwinter Fair. Southern-California furnished its quota, and will probably do so again. All and will probably do so again. All visitors wonder at a seemingly staid and dignified, city, entering into a four days' fiesta with the enjoyment and abandon attributed only to the Latin nations.

It is probable that there will nothing further done respecting the Little Reservoir Canyon storm-water ditch at the meeting of the city trustees on Wednesday evening, as the trustees wish to have on file all the deeds of right-of-way before letting any contracts for construction. Because of a dispute between the city and agents acting for the property-owners as to the land covered by the deeds to the city, and the line as surveyed by the City Engineer; much interest has been awakened in the ditch. The greatest difference occurred respecting the property of Charles Saxton, and a deed is expected from him within a few days.

This season Pasadenians note a new note in the eulogies sung by the tourists. Formerly the changes were sung on climate and view, but now the enterprise of the citizens calls forth more exclamations than the natural marvels. One can but smile at the impressions made on the Eastern mind by these blocks of pavement, and wonder what the effect would have been had Fair Oaks and Raymond aveues received their coatings of asphaltum.

The loafer element is becoming a nuisance in Pasadena. Until quite lately ladies could go about the streets at any hour of day or night secure from insult, but now as soon as the day darkens loafers congregate on the corners and the belated shopper and sight-seer is subjected to impudent compliments or obscene remarks. These offenders should be summarily dealt with, and taught that in this respect Pasadena does not wish to imitate the larger cities.

POMONA.

The Town Rapidly Pilling Up With Easter

Pomona's population is increasing very rapidly these days. The Easterners are coming in large numbers and not a few of them are purchasing property with a view of residing here in future. The residents who have been East are also returning on almost every overland train, and it can be safely predicted that there will be fully 20 per cent more people in Ponona this winter than ever before. Business is decidedly improved, and the prospects for a prosperous season were never better. There are more people on the streets, says a prominent real estate man, than ever before, even in boom times.

The recent storm, which passed over Southern California, hit Pomona very lightly indeed. In fact, there was no storm here. On Friday afternoon about half an inch of rain fell and a few pellets of hall, which was the extent of the storm in this valley. The snow came very low down on the mountains north of the city. At the powerhouse of the San Antonio Light and Power Company in San Antonio Canyon, over two feet of snow fell. The weather was decidedly cool on Saturday, but turned warmer Saturday afternoon.

Vell Pleased With What Has Been Accor plished-The Great Benefits from the County and State Displays.

Manager Joplin, of the Orange county World's Fair exhibit at Chicago, ar-rived home Saturday evening, glad to again get back to what he was pleased to term, "God's country." Mr. Joplin was seen in the office of the Bruhswick Hotel, and, in conversation with the reporter, said:

"Oh, yes; I am glad to get back home again, after an absence of almost seven months. The World's Fair was a great institution, and was well worth one's time to make a visit. It was truly

"Yes, I most certainly think that the Orange county exhibit, as well as the exhibit of the whole State, has already been the means of sending many people to this country, and the recollecple to this country, and the recollections of those who inspected the products of our virgin soil will be, in my opinion, the means of bringing people here for the nextsten years. I tell you that of all the hundreds and thousands of people that I talked with, who passed through our building during the fair, there was not one of those who had not at some time been here, not one single one, who did not express an enthusiastic desire to visit this country; many of them stated most emphatically that they were coming just as soon as they could arrange their business matters in the East, so they could leave.

many of them stated most emphatically that they were coming just as soon as they could arrange their business matters in the East, so they could leave.

"From this I draw my conclusion that California will be benefited by its great exhibit for the next ten years or more. As the Eastern people, who desire to come to California, dispose of their homes they will proceed to carry out their intentions of visiting, and, in most cases, locating in California.

"I have no hesitancy in saying that, if it would not now be for the money stringency in the East, California would be full of people. Just as soon as the times get a little better in a number of these Eastern States, I feel quite sure that the California public will be happily surprised at the volume of home-seekers that will pour into this country. I know this is putting the matter pretty strong, but I am correctly predicting the near future. Perhaps the people here do not feel so sanguine in the matter, and I do not wonder at it, for it is surely difficult for them to realize the vastness of the opportunity the State, by counties and as one grand whole, had before it, of making an indelible impression upon the minds of millions of people from all over the world, of the varied and wonderful productions of the country. Yes, I do not think the people here realize what opportunities we have had at the fair to correctly and extensively represent the resources of our unexcelled State.

"Oh, we had a pleasant trip home. There was a carload of us—some to Los Angeles, some to San Bernardinc, kiverside, San Diego, Santa Burbara, Ventura and other counties. On the same train we came on there were three tourlists cars packed with Eastern people, coming here to locate. The conductor of our train told us that the travel was row increasing every trip. "Oh, by the way, I want to thank The Times for the splendid service it gave us during the season, and the correct representation it gave us. We were always glad to get The Times every morning. in-1890, transferred it to the city as a subscription association. Under this guise it became a factor in the public affairs of the place, though boasting a membership of only about eighty persons. It was not until April last that the library reached the plane of its greatest usefulness, in its transformation into a free circulating library.

As such, the limited number of volumes now composing the collection has attained a circulation which, proportioned to the population of the place has no apologies to offer to any city in the land. With but few more than twenty-one hundred volumes, the circulation for the three months last past has exceeded an average of eleven hundred. The membership, too, has now approximated three hundred and fifty. The Dewey and Cutter system of classification is used in the library. Its doors are open both day and evening, and its refining influence, as a resort for young and old, is as well recognized as the educational tendencies of its outside circulation, are distinct and appreciable. Effie A. Morse is the efficient and popular librarian, and no one familiar with the leavening power of general reading can, for a moment, question the present and future advantages to the community as a whole which are are bound to flow from its widening constituency and increasing volumes.

were only about twenty-five present, and of these about half were attracted by the music of the band stationed at the door. "Taxpayer" says that the meeting elected a president, several vice-presidents (the greater number of whom were not present.) also a secretary, and then adourned. "Taxpayer" sacribes the present movement in favor of municipal ownership to a few fanatics on the water question, who have an inward hatred to the Colton City Water Company, aided by about a dozen idle non-property-owners who would like to create a market for their labor. The correspondent claims that the better and more conservative element is not in sympathy with this move to down the existing company. After stating that the present corporation, while it has been of inestimable benefit to the city, has not paid its stockholders one cent dividend, "Taxpayer" says it would be the height of ingratitude to throw the company down at a time when the good result of its business-like management is beginning to show itself. Speaking of the water rates, it is asserted that the prices charged for domestic use are about the same as in other cities, while for irrigation they are as low, if not lower, than elsewhere, notwithstanding the fact that it takes more water to properly irrigate one acre of land supplied by the Colton City Water Company than it does for double the area in Riverside, Redlands or San Bernardino.

The Long Voyage of a Cargo of Nails.

Shipments from New York via Europe California to Save Freight Charges. A Mercantile

(San Francisco Chronicle, Saturday:) The suit of the United States vs. 250 The suit of the United States vs. 250 kegs of nails was argued yesterday before the Circuit Court of Appeals. It is an interesting one for merchants, as on the judgment in it depends whether $250,000 worth of merchandise that has been seized, shall be sold by the government or be returned to the former owners. It is interesting, also, be-peen seized, shall be sold of the former owners. It is interesting, also, because of the sidelight that it throws on the overland freight charges.

The 250 kegs of nails were shipped from New York in June, 1891, to Antwerp, Belgium, on the Belgium ship Waesland, and, after being unloaded at Antwerp, were at once put aboard the British ship Kirkcudbrightshire and taken to Redondo, Cal. A Federal statute provides that merchandise shall not be transported from one port of the United States to another on foreign bottoms, and under that section the seizure was made at Redondo.

It may seem that it would be more expensive to send the goods to Europe, thousands of miles out of the way, when their destination was a domestic port, but the shippers found the cost otherwise. On account of the combination between the Pacific Mail and the Southern Pacific, freight rates were so high that it was cheaper for them to transport their goods on foreign ships. They could not secure American bottoms at reasonable rates. It would have been plainly against the law to send merchandise directly from New York to a California port in foreign bottoms, so the device of shipping first to Europe was resorted to. The goods were returned free of duty, as goods of American manufacure are thus exempted under the tariff law.

After taking this roundabout course on the sea the merchants found that they paid from $3 to $4 a ton less for freight than they would if they had shipped by the more direct routes which the combination controlled.

Hardware was the principal kind of merchandise thus shipped, as it did not matter how long it was on the water. A cargo of lard and a consignment of whisky were also seized. The ment of whisky were also seized. The mind, and sent out instructions to make the selzures.

Before shipping by the European route the New York merchants got a ruling from the Treasury Department in 1891 that the law could not prevent the shipping of merchandise in that way. The Treasury Department issued blanks to fit such shipments. When it was seen that this plan would cut into the freight business of the combination, the Treasury Department changed its mind, and sent out instructions to make the seizures.

District Judge Ross decided the Redondo case against the government, and an appeal was taken. It was argued yesterday by Dist.-Atty. Garter for the United States, and Messrs. Page and Andros for the merchants.

After Judge Ross's decision. in which he held that the statute could not prevent the mercantile maneuver. Congress, in February. 1893, amended the law'so as to prohibit any resort to this saving plan hereafter.

This certainly is a department that has succeeded beyond all expectations. It has made the most pronounced progress towards securing the finest trade of any department in our House. We feel very much flattered at the kindly reception that we have received at the hands of not only the ladies of Los Angeles but quite a number from other places who have honored us with their Fall millinery. On the other hand, we think that Madame Harrell's taste and ability as a designer has equalled the expectations of the most critical. She certainly has designed some very beautiful creations.

We still have quite a stock of Fall shapes on hand and as the middle of December will probably be the last of our busy season, and as we carry nothour busy séason, and as we carry nothing over whatsoever, we will make it an object to you, if in need of anything in the way of headgear, and absorb our present stock at about one half the price earlier in the season. Our department is certainly the most beautiful in Southern if not the entire state of California and we are frank to say that our hats and models merit the same praise.

Toys and Holiday Goods.

We opened our basement salesroom for Toys and Holiday Goods yesterday. We have everything imaginable to in-terest, instruct and amuse the young. This season we have gone more exten-sively into the finer classes of toys and holiday presents than heretofore. The success of this department in years past has been due to the fact that we sell our toys at the same ratio of profit sell our toys at the same ratio of profit that we sell everything else in the house. We are enabled to do this ow-ing to the fact that everything we carry of a foreign nature is imported direct by us. The domestic goods are bought direct from the manufacturers. We have moved our Drug Depart-ment temporarily to where it formerly was, at the head of the underwear cou ter, and in its place have opened a holi-day booth, containing all sorts of use-ful and ornamental presents for the ful and ornamental presents for the holidays. We cannot go into a description of its contents, but when you are in the store we should be pleased to have you inspect it. We propose to close out our entire stock of books, bibles and kindred articles, as we have not the space to display them during the year: we have decided not to keep the year; we have decided not to keep them any further, so you will be able to purchase them at your own prices. Our stock is now in its most complete Our stock is now in its most complete condition. Don't wait until the last moment to purchase your holiday wares, You can purchase whatever you want at present; either pay for it or pay a deposit upon it and we will lay it aside or store it for you until such time preceding the holidays as you may wish to have it delivered.

Dr. Wong's SANITARIUM

Four years ago my daughter, Virginia Bell, was treated by Dr. Wong for what physicians called hip disease, and had pronunced incurable after treating her for eight years. Dr. Wong's diagnosis was that he was afflicted with one of thirteen forms of cancer. His medicine effected a permanent cure in seven months' time. Two years ago my grandson became blind in one eye. Dr. Wong restored his sight in three weeks time. A LASSWELL, Savannah, Cal. After I had been treated eleven years by six different doctors, for consumption, and they had stated that I couldn't live two months, I took Dr. Wong's medicine and was cured in seven months.
